INSIDER INFO

We actively promote a diverse and inclusive environment. We pride ourselves on our people and would like to create an environment that fosters a sense of freedom to bring your whole self to work. Embracing differences is a big part of the culture here at PwC. The firm is serious about diversity - there's a real appreciation of the value of different perspectives and experience, and how they enrich our working environment and help encourage innovative thinking.

I've been involved with our GLEE@PwC network since it first launched, and it's great to see the success it has enjoyed since then. GLEE is now a model program for PwC firms right across the world, and is growing and transforming to engage more of our people than ever.
